

About

The ecoscope blog aims to increase dialogue on topical economic issues beyond the usual OECD audiences. Blog authors are OECD economists writing on their current field of research reaching out to other experts across the world to generate discussion on an array of economic issues.

Contact: eco.contact@oecd.org